

COVID-19

WHEN AFRICA TAKES CHARGE

SPECIAL ISSUE - 4 WEEKS IN NEWSSTANDS

COVID-19 SPECIAL - A NEW AFRICA?

The global crisis linked to Covid-19 has revealed a new - and positive - fact: Africa has distinguished itself in many ways. Contrary to the catastrophic forecasts, it has shown a certain reactivity. Better still, we have seen that, for once, it has been able to pool its energies to speak with one voice, propose its own solutions, and put on the table subjects that had hitherto been taboo (including the cancellation of its debt). Rarely has the involvement of its experts or intellectuals been so strong. The starting point for a new Africa?

DOSSIER

CONSTRUCTION & INFRASTRUCTURE

Buoyed by vigorous growth before the pandemic and by needs that are still as massive as ever, the construction and infrastructure sector should continue to offer great opportunities in 2020.

EUROPEAN UNION

Among the continent's strategic partners, the European Union stands at a privileged and historic place. What post-pandemic collaboration? We investigate the new Diplomatic and economic relations.

BURKINA FASO FOCUS

Managing the health crisis and its consequences, preparing the November presidential and legislative elections and investigating prospects for key sectors of the economy: the editorial team reviews Burkina Faso's development and analyses its main challenges, always as close as possible to the field and to the main players in the country's political, socio-economic and cultural life.

Strengthen your presence in Africa targeting a highly pertinent readership

With an unmatched readership of top management, business leaders and high-level civil servants, Jeune Afrique is the leading source of African political and business news.

> 8,000,000
cross media readers/month

> 650,000
readers/issue

> 3,500,000
Unique Visitor/month

Enhance
your achievements
in this special issue of JEUNE AFRIQUE

