Exercise

Exercise

Objective: To understand how you can begin to think about and assess actual and potential human rights impacts.

As a group select a human rights issue that interests you.

For the issue:

1. Describe what it is;
2. Identify human rights related to it;
3. Consider the nature of the connection the company may have to it;
4. Consider potential risks it could pose to the business; and
5. Assess what systems or processes could help prevent or manage it.

Exercise

For example ...

Human Rights Issue: Forced Labour
Description of the Issue	Relevant Human Rights	Connection to the Company	Potential Risks to the Business	Systems and Processes
Forced labour concerns people who are compelled to work through the threat of violence to themselves or their families	Right to life, liberty and security of person; Right not to be subjected to slavery, servitude or forced labour	Indirect – potentially present in the supply chain (e.g. services)	Complicity in human rights abuses; Reputational impacts associated with local or international NGO campaigns	Human Resources Policies; Code of conduct; Contract management system; Regular Audits

Report back

- 5 minutes per group to report back on exercise.

CLOSING COMMENTS & FEEDBACK

Presenters

Bastien Mignonneau

Bastien's work as a Senior Consultant at Banarra has led him to conduct human rights due diligence projects for mining companies in Mauritania, the Republic of the Congo and the Democratic Republic of Congo. He is also familiar with the African context through his personal life and invested in the responsible development of companies in this region having lived himself and worked in Cote d'Ivoire part of his life.

More generally, Bastien has practical experience in the design, development and delivery of CSR-related assessments and in the development of management systems aligned to global initiatives such as the UN Guiding Principles, ICMM Sustainable Development Framework and the Voluntary Principles on Security and Human Rights.

Vanessa Piercey

Vanessa is a Consultant at Banarra, with a background in human rights. Vanessa has worked closely with resource companies across Australia and overseas, including Barrick Gold, BHP Billiton, Newcrest, Oil Search and IAMGOLD, to assist them in delivering on their community relations objectives.

She plays a leading role in Banarra's Human Rights Risk Assessment methodology which has now been implemented with clients in Australia, South America and Africa. She has also been a key contributor to a range of other social and human rights methodologies, particularly around the development, implementation and audit of community relations management systems.
